POISONED CANDY FOR GIRL
 Pretty Phone Operator Gets Gift That Nearly Kills Her Sister.
 Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 30.—A jilted admirer is blamed for an attempt to poison Miss Mary Maloy, a pretty telephone operator, by sending her poisoned candy as a Christmas present.
 The attempt almost resulted in the death of Miss Sadie Maloy, the fifteen-year-old sister of the intended victim.
 Enclosed in a handsome box, the candy was received through the mail at the Maloy home. Mary Maloy has many friends and had received so much candy that she laid the box aside. Her sister ate a piece of the candy Tuesday and became violently sick.
 The postmark on the box was so blurred that it is only known that the candy was mailed in this state.

CROWDED RHODE ISLAND
 Leads States in Density With 508.5 People to Square Mile.
 Washington, Dec. 30.—Rhode Island has 508.5 people to the square mile, thus, according to census bureau figures, leading the list of states in the matter of density of population.
 Nevada, with only seven-tenths of a person to the mile, finds a place at the lower end of the table giving these facts.
 Second in the density list Massachusetts supports 418.8 people to the square mile; New Jersey, 337.7; Connecticut, 231.3, and New York, 191.2. The other states possessing more than 100 to the square mile are: Pennsylvania, 171; Maryland, 130.3; Ohio, 117; Delaware, 103, and Illinois, 109.7.

PRISON KEEPER FATALY STABBED
 Lifer at Trenton Plunges Knife Into a Deputy.
 Trenton, N. J., Dec. 30.—Dominic Mengano, a Passaic county murderer, whose sentence of death was commuted to one of life imprisonment, stabbed and perhaps fatally injured William D. Turner, a deputy keeper at the state prison.
 Turner was rushed to St. Francis hospital with two knife wounds in his abdomen. A first examination by physicians indicated that he would die.
 The men were coming from dinner, when Mengano held up his hand, the convict's sign that he wished to speak to his keeper. Turner walked over to Mengano, and as he did so the convict slipped a knife from his sleeve and plunged it twice in quick succession into Turner's stomach. He was quickly overpowered and placed in a dungeon, while physicians were summoned to attend to Turner's wounds.
 Mengano has had a surly disposition, and his ugly temper is supposed to have prompted the stabbing. So far as is known at this time Turner had done nothing to justify the attack upon him.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
 by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is, by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflammation of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a humming sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists. Price 75c per bottle. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

 White's Slayer Freed of Claims in United States Court.
 Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 30.—Harry Kendall Thaw, who killed Stanford White, the New York architect, in that city, was discharged from bankruptcy by Judge Charles P. Orr in the United States district court.

The order carried with it Thaw's discharge from all debts and claims made payable against his estate and which existed Aug. 7, 1908.

James C. Graham, who had filed exceptions on the ground that Thaw was insane when the bankruptcy petition was filed, withdrew his objections. Attorneys declared Thaw's recognized creditors would receive 20 per cent of their accounts. According to the bankruptcy petition Thaw's liabilities were $453,140, with assets of $128,017.

MOVE TO REFORM NATIONAL BANKS
 Comptroller Orders Uniform System of Keeping Books.
 EXAMINERS ARE HOODWINKED
 Texas Bank Did Business For Two Years While Insolvent and Examiners Were Unable to Learn Its True Condition.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Disclosures following the forced liquidation of the Quannah National bank, of Quannah, Tex., ten days ago, caused the comptroller of the currency to issue an order directing every one of the 7200 national banks in the United States to install what practically amounts to a uniform system of bookkeeping.

Investigation of the Quannah National bank disclosed that it had been doing business for the last two years, although undoubtedly insolvent, and although inspected at regular intervals by national bank examiners, and that during that time the examiners were unable to learn the bank's true condition, largely because the management refused to keep a proper record of its business transactions, and that the entire capital of $50,000, and probably some of the $38,000 surplus, was paid out to stockholders as dividends.

In a statement Comptroller Murray conceded that his examiners were hoodwinked for two years by the way the bank handled its notes.

Reports to headquarters show that an examiner finally did become suspicious shortly before the bank's closing and insisted that a new set of books be installed. This the officials did under protest, the report says, but they abandoned the new system to return to the old one two days later, after the examiner had left town. Returning to Quannah unexpectedly, the examiner found the change and reported it by telegraph to Washington.

Capital and Surplus Wiped Out.
 When a special representative of the comptroller's office rushed to Quannah he found the bank's capital of $50,000 and surplus of $38,000 completely wiped out.

By taking real estate and notes from directors and officials and discounting the notes, the bank was restored to solvency, so that it could be forced into "voluntary" liquidation. A new institution named the Citizens' National Bank of Quannah immediately was formed under the direction of the comptroller, and it took over the old bank.

To insure a system of bookkeeping by which the true condition of a national bank can be determined at any moment, the order directs examiners on finding a bank whose exact condition they cannot determine to report the fact by telegraph to Washington and give the management of the bank thirty days to install the necessary books.

"At the end of that period," says the comptroller's order, "the examiner will return to the bank at its expense to determine if instructions have been complied with, and if the necessary books have not been installed he will remain in the bank at its expense until such books are installed under the direction and supervision of the examiner."

No criminal or other proceedings to fix the responsibility for the Quannah National's condition has been taken.

THAW OUT OF BANKRUPTCY
 White's Slayer Freed of Claims in United States Court.
 Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 30.—Harry Kendall Thaw, who killed Stanford White, the New York architect, in that city, was discharged from bankruptcy by Judge Charles P. Orr in the United States district court.

The order carried with it Thaw's discharge from all debts and claims made payable against his estate and which existed Aug. 7, 1908.

James C. Graham, who had filed exceptions on the ground that Thaw was insane when the bankruptcy petition was filed, withdrew his objections. Attorneys declared Thaw's recognized creditors would receive 20 per cent of their accounts. According to the bankruptcy petition Thaw's liabilities were $453,140, with assets of $128,017.

A Lawyer and A Simpleton

By M. QUAD
Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.

When old John Cairnes, villager, died he left his son, Peter, twenty-five years old. The wife and mother had been dead for many years. Old John was not exactly a miser, but he was known as a money saver. From the age of ten, when he met with an accident, Peter was the simpleton of the village and a butt of ridicule, though he had been known as a bright child for the first few years. The doctors said there was something pressing on the brain and that an operation would fix things all right, but the father balked at the cost, and so Peter remained a simpleton. It was only when the old man came to die that he regretted his stinginess and neglect and said to the lawyer who drew the will:

"Everything goes to Peter. He's simple minded, but he will get along. I want you to advise him and be a sort of father. People think I've got a lot of money, but that's all nonsense. You can tell Peter, however, that there's something hidden away in the house that he'll come across some day and appreciate."

Lawyers are entirely human outside of a courtroom. That hidden treasure had the same effect on Attorney Henderson as it would have had on a plumber or blacksmith. Just where in the house was it concealed? Was it in gold or greenbacks? Was it $10,000 or double the sum? And wasn't it a shame that it should go to a simpleton, whose wants were already supplied?

The more the lawyer argued and reasoned with himself the more reasonable it looked that he should come into possession of that treasure. He felt that he could even convince a judge and jury of the fact. Within three months he was scheming. He called at the house now and then to see Peter. The young man seldom left the premises. He made garden, chored about the place and went to bed with the hens. It was easy to make an excuse to get him out of the house for an hour or two. Then the lawyer instituted a search. He made three of them and found nothing—not that the treasure wasn't there, but because there are scores and scores of hiding places in any house. These vain searches convinced Mr. Henderson that he should come into legal possession of the house, so that he might pull it to pieces if necessary.

In selling it there would be work provided for the simpleton. The lawyer would give him a certain sum of money and a gravel pit to boot. The money would draw interest and every lot of gravel dug out would bring Peter 15 cents. Killing two birds with one stone, you see. Attorney Henderson even got the credit of being a philanthropist and humanitarian.

Of course the simpleton was clay in the hands of the potter. He went to live with a family at so much per year, and he went to work in the gravel pit. The lawyer didn't rush things in making other searches. He waited for weeks. Then at odd times he systematized his work.

"Was a queer thing that happened after awhile. Attorney Henderson read a treasure story in a magazine. It had many points similar to his. The heirs tore an old house down piece by piece in search of a miser's loot and then found it in the old clock on the mantel. The idea took root. None of the old furniture had been removed. The searcher went at it to inspect and overhaul. It took three more searches to bring success. Under the ragged cover of an old lounge on which Peter had sat and slept for years was found a tin type of the young man's mother. It was in a cardboard box, and in the handwriting of the father were a few lines explaining the identity of the picture and adding that it was a treasure to be valued more than money. After reading the lines the lawyer could not doubt that the find was what the old man referred to when on his dying bed.

There was no one present to listen to Attorney Henderson's "plea" when he decided that he had been sold and that he alone was responsible for the selling. He was doubtless a strong and able effort. He had paid full value for property he did not want, and the only consolation he had was in feeling that the gravel pit was more or less of a fraud. Simpleton Pete had plugged away at getting out gravel, but had met with loss and sand instead. He was about to abandon his labors when the irony of fate showed its hand. The whole village was jumped out of its boots one afternoon when he rushed along the main street swinging his hat and shouting. As he rushed back again he was followed by a crowd. He led it to the gravel pit and to a small stout box he had unearthed. When the box was broken open it was found to contain $25,000 in English sovereigns, buried during the Revolutionary war.

The crowd first cursed Peter for his luck. Then it cheered him and bore him in triumph—all but one of the crowd. Attorney Henderson had the thinty of a homely old woman, dead for years, and the simpleton had a box of gold from a played out gravel pit!

Which same is a true story, and the moral of it, as near as the author can make out, is that, while one sharp man may get the better of another, neither one of them can always get the better of a fool.

SIXTEEN KILLED BY EXPLOSION

Many Others Injured In Accident at Ice House.

MANY WERE SEEKING WORK

Boiler at Plant Near Pittsfield, Mass., Blows Up, Hurling Bodies and Debris Through the Air.

Pittsfield, Mass., Dec. 30.—Fourteen men were instantly killed and two have since died from injuries received in the explosion of a tubular boiler in the engine house of the Morewood Lake company, the largest ice plant in Berkshire county, near Pittsfield.

More than twenty-five men were injured in the explosion, fourteen of whom were taken to the House of Mercy hospital immediately following the accident. A police investigation is now under way to determine the cause of the explosion.

The police theory of the explosion is that a new safety valve which had been installed by a Pittsfield firm was choked in the pipe leading from the boiler to the valve, and that whereas the range was set for only forty pounds the boiler may have been carrying 200 pounds of steam when it blew up.

A special meeting of the city council was held. This meeting voted authority to the mayor to furnish immediate relief to the families of the killed and injured, the amount used to be paid out of the fund for the relief of the poor.

Relief For Victims' Families.

Senator Crane, of Dalton, on hearing the news of the accident, drove to Pittsfield and conferred with Mayor McKinnis in regard to the relief arrangements for the dead and injured. Members of the Crane family in Dalton immediately subscribed $1650 and prominent citizens of Pittsfield a sum which reaches nearly $3000.

The property loss to the ice company is $5000. The Morewood Lake company, according to one of the members of the firm, claim that but two of the men killed and injured were on their payroll. The remainder had gathered at the ice house for employment, which was to begin with the operation of the engine for hoisting ice into the stack, for which the wrecked boiler was to furnish the steam.

The dead are: William Dunn, Edgar D. Allen, John Raymond, Leo Fernandez, George Albert Bence, Wyatt Moore, Elmer E. Eldridge, Fred Bouthier, Arthur Pepon, James McMalus, Abeline Gallego, George Houghtaling, Joseph Gallego, George Ward, Martin F. Smith, one unidentified body.

The boiler house was demolished in a second, and pieces of the boiler, timbers and human bodies were hurled through the air. One body was blown a distance of 200 feet and another 150 feet. The cylinder of the boiler was found in a tree on the edge of the lake more than 100 feet away, while a large piece of iron was picked up 200 yards from where the boiler house stood.

STEEL MEN CONFER

Action May Be Taken In January Toward Reviving Trade.

New York, Dec. 30.—A conference of the steel manufacturers of the United States has been called to meet in this city on Jan. 9 for the purpose of discussing prices and steel conditions. Whether concerted action will be taken toward a readjustment of prices downward for the purpose of reviving the slackening demand in the steel trade is not known.

Steel plants are running between 50 and 60 per cent of their capacity at present, and some manufacturers think that lowered steel prices would bring consumers into the market.

CRUISER DETROIT TO LEAD REBEL FLEET

Vessel Sold For $20,000 to be Used as Filibuster.

New Orleans, Dec. 30.—The former United States cruiser Detroit, which this week was sold by the government to a New York broker for $20,000, will form the nucleus of a filibustering fleet to be sent against the Gulf coast of Mexico by the insurgents, according to information from the Mexican junta here.

It is known that representatives of Madero were in New Orleans last week and made an unsuccessful effort to have a firm bid on the Detroit and another vessel which had been offered for sale. One of these men went directly to Washington and expected to be present at the sale of the Detroit.

A report saying that the Detroit had been purchased for the Honduran revolutionists is believed to have emanated from agents of Madero.

ROBIN HELD ON LARCENY CHARGE

Accused of Taking $90,000 From Bank.

ARRESTED BY DETECTIVES

Bank Juggler Is Ill Aged and Watched by Detectives in the Home of His Sister.

New York, Dec. 30.—A few hours after his indictment by the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny upon charges growing out of the failure of the Northern bank, Joseph C. Robin was arrested at the home of his sister, Dr. Louise G. Robinovitch, 28 West One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street.

Mr. Jerome, according to his promise, told District Attorney Whitman where to find Robin, and two detectives armed with a bench warrant issued by Judge Crain, took Robin into custody. The prisoner, who was ill, was watched all night by the detectives in his bedroom.

Next to Robin's arrest the most sensational development in the story was brought out in the testimony of Frederick K. Morris, Robin's confidential man, before the grand jury. Robin got away with $90,000 in checks delivered by the Washington Savings bank on a mortgage supposed to have been made by the Fidelity Development company, owners of the Morris Park property. No such mortgage was executed by that company.

When he was asked whether a charge of forgery could not have been made in this instance, District Attorney Whitman said that probably it could have, but that his purpose was to seize the clearest charge and place it before the grand jury. He said that he expects to get a lot of additional indictments against Robin. Also officers of the banks involved and directors will go before the grand jury.

Former District Attorney Jerome, as Robin's counsel, was closeted with Mr. Whitman for some time. Robin was brought to his sister's house in West One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. Detectives Flood and Lee went up there and arrested him. He went to bed because he was said to be sick. Dr. Austin Flint, acting for Mr. Jerome, and Dr. Mabon, for the district attorney, examined the prisoner and they will give their opinion as to whether or not Robin can be taken to the criminal courts building to plead to the indictment.

Following the discovery of Robin's thefts from the Washington Savings bank, of which he is president, the state banking department, which had allowed that institution to remain open and receive the few deposits that were offered on Wednesday when the bank gave notice that it would enforce the sixty-day rule, took charge and closed the bank's doors. The bank on July 31 last had deposits of $1,410,205 due to 7000 depositors.

HOUDS EXONERATE 250

Prove Men Suspected of Closing Down Factory Innocent.

Canal Dover, O., Dec. 30.—Blood-hounds exonerated 250 employees of the Dover Manufacturing company, suspected of connection with events that led to the closing down of the factory.

During the night some one entered the plant, drew the water from the boilers and put emery dust in the oil cups. The engineer was unable to start the machinery in the morning.

Officers of the company, suspecting discharged employees, summoned these and the entire working force and, lining them up, let bloodhounds take a sniff at each. The dogs implicated none of them.

Coal Short at Trenton.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 30.—Many of the factories here are in immediate need of coal, and unless the railroads relieve the situation there is danger of a general tie-up of manufacture the first of the next year. Grafter Gets Jail Sentence.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 30.—James Jackson, president of the Eclipse Coal company, was sentenced to from three to seven years in the penitentiary. THE CLIMAX

"The Climax," a play in three acts by Edward Locke, with music by Joseph Carl Breil, will be seen here at Walter Theatre tonight. "The Climax" comes as a final argument to the much discussed question "should the stage instruct as well as entertain." Mr. Joseph Weber who stands sponsor for the delightful little play during the run at his own Theatre New York, was constantly in receipt of applications from college professors and clergymen requesting that some arrangement be made by which their followers could use the play.

HUMOROUS QUIPS

Heaven Bless 'Em.

When the horses slip and tumble in the wind swept icy streets,
When the "L" road patrons shiver, huddled in their chilly seats;
When thick frost is on the windows and the layens are white with snow,
When the clinkers clog the furnace so you cannot make it go,
What a joy it is to listen to the people who declare
That there's health in wintry weather and no germs in winter air!

When the man with untrimmed whiskers carries round a lot of ice
Dangling downward from his features, when eggs reach their highest price,
When the days are brief and gloomy, when the trains are always late,
When the sidewalk's either muddy or a thing on which to skate,
Is it not a rare, sweet pleasure while you shiver to be told
That we never have to battle with diseases when it's cold?

When your children have the measles or are laid up with the mumps,
When the farmers in the mornings have to thaw their frozen pumps,
When pneumonia, scarlet fever and a score of other ills
Keep the doctors hustling daily and increase the monthly bills,
When the quinine you have taken plagues you so you cannot hear,
Oh, how sweet it is to hear, to meet them—those whom winter serves to cheer!
—Chicago Record-Herald.

There is one common bird that the small boy with slung shot, or air rifle may appropriately put in his spare time exterminating, and that is the English sparrow. Exhaustive investigations have been made touching the habits and bill of the bird, and he has been condemned as an all round nuisance. The only redeeming feature the little rascal has is that he is hardy and gives his monotonous chirp in midwinter when the thermometer is below zero and when other birds are enjoying the balmy air of the southland. But this is not a sufficient virtue to justify saving him. The sparrow is good eating, and "four and twenty" sparrows would make a pretty good poppie.
